Brickell Ave, Miami, FL, a former prisoner of war, ~~who~~ was confined to cell block # 7, Cabaña Prison, Havana, Cuba. This cell block contained prisoners who were the sons or heads of formerly wealthy Cuban families.

Pujol's father paid $100,000 ransom to Fidel Castro in early 1962 to obtain his release.

Pujol knew the subject of this rpt, Paco Organidey, who also was confined to cell block #7.

Pujol said that Organidey told fellow prisoners that he had participated in the Bay of Pigs Invasion as a member of the FBI, on orders by the FBI, and that his status is known by the Cuban officials.

Pujol said the prisoners considered Organidey to be an informant to the gov. officials. (Cuban officials).

Re: Info from Ouradio KABA concerning Castro supporters in the U.S.

Ovidio Kaba, born 11-20-27 in Santiago de Cuba, belonged to the Bureau of Investigations of the Cuban National Police in 1950 & was a member of the Triple A, the 26th of July Movement, and the OA during the yrs. 1952-58.

He resided as of January, 1961, at Ave 9,
Number 8206, Marianao, Havana, Cuba.

On his return to Cuba, he was a 1st
Lt. and a member of the Technical Dept of DIER, where he served under Sergio Sanjinis from Jan to June, 1959.

He accompanied Castro to the U.S. in April, 1959. He claims he deserted in June 1959 to join with Chester L. Cayo to org. a revolution in Nicaragua. Subj.
was arrested & deported back to Mexico after 17 days.

During his last 3 months in Cuba, KABA was assoc. with the AMBAN furniture store. KABA was employed by the Russians during this period to furnish the Soviet Embassy in Havana.

KABA arrived in the US on 19 Nov 1960 via Ottawa. As of Jan, 1961, he ~~resided~~ resided at Hotel Monroe,
NW 27th St & 2nd Ave, Miami, FL.
At that time, he maintained contact with Jorge Alonso Puig of the FRENTE Revolucionario Democrático

This mentions that during December 1962 Cubans who volunteered for US military service were stationed at Fort Knox, KY.

Mr. Joseph Califano, JR, Deputy Undersecretary for the Dept. of the Army, was in charge of the Cuban unit. The total number thought to be 1,927 Cubans - they were transferred by Califano to Fort Jackson, South Carolina due to

This info supplied by Dr. Ernesto Aragon, delegate of the CRC.

Dr. Aragon said that rep. of "the Brigade" had been to Washington in early 1963 to speak with U.S. officials relative to the future of the Brigade - the rep. of the Brigade who were present in Wash during early Jan 1963 were Manuel Cortinez, Roberto and Jose San Roman, Comandante Olivera, Henry Ruiz Williams and Fina Ferrer. Aragon said that these ind. met with all Gen. Kennedy and Cottrell, Hurwitt, and Califano and 7 other individuals who comprise the Cuban Task Force.
Meeting: 2:00 1-11-63.

- states that RFR developed a "great friendship" with Roberto San Roman who Dr. Aragon advised is not the individual the A & believes him to be & that this should be made clear. This friendship developed when RFR & General Maxwell Taylor conducted an inquiry into the reasons for the disaster of the Cuban Invasion of 1961.

Aragon said that it would appear that RFK is listening to what Roberto San Roman & the Brigade has to say -

Dr. Aragon feels the individuals leading the Brigade pose great problems to Cubans generally because they are out for ind. fame & not general welfare.

Dr. Aragon said that on 1-17-63, he met with Joseph Califano at the Pentagon and stated 2 factors that greatly disturbed him

- 1) Cuban unity
- 2) Brigade

Califano said it could be difficult to ~~see~~ survey RFK's opinion in making decisions based on Brigade info if the AG chooses to do so.

Dr. Aragon stated that one of the main difficulties in dealing with the Present Adm is that the various agencies of the U.S. listen to any Cuban who come to O.C., and without inquiring the nature of the Cuban, accept the info. After talking to the U.S. this Cuban returns home & says he has the backing of the U.S. gov. in the situation, & needs no org. because he ~~has his own org.~~ is his own leader with his own followers.

Aragon said this has repeatedly occurred.

Cuban Brigade 2506

CONFIDENTIAL

Internal Security - Cuba

-this memo deals with Brigade 2506,
a Cuban Brigade captured by Castro during the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion of 1961.

After the Bay of Pigs a split developed in the brigade - most of the brigade remained loyal to Jose Mario Carbona, head of the CRC, and their commanders.
Some, however, formed a small faction critical of U.S. policy & behavior.
Jose Alonso Rujol part of this group

On 1-9-63, Jose Rujol advised
he was the director of the radio program,
"Gironi Habla," which was critical of U.S. policy.

Rujol was kept in the Principe Prison.

-stated he was willing & able to do anything to eliminate CASTRO & Communism
